

JAMES F. LINGAFELTER CASE GOES TO JURY THIS AFTERNOON JUDGE CAMPBELL'S CHARGE

Counsel for State and Ex-Banker Consume Entire Day in Argument to Jury.

Edward Kibler, P. B. Smythe and F. V. Owen Talked This Morning, B. G. Smythe and Prosecutor Fitzgibbon Making Closing Speeches—Full Text of Judge's Charge.

The Jas. F. Lingafelter forgery case was submitted to the jury at just 3.27 this afternoon.

When court opened this morning, Edward Kibler made the first argument for the state, and was followed by Phil B. Smythe and Frank V. Owen for the defendant. This afternoon B. G. Smythe made the closing speech for the defense followed by Prosecutor J. R. Fitzgibbon who concluded the work for the state by a address of an hour and fifteen minutes. Then came Judge Campbell's charge at 3:05, after which the case was given to the jury.

This morning Mrs. J. F. Lingafelter, also indicted for forgery, filed affidavits of prejudice against Judges Seward and Coyner, disqualifying them from sitting on the bench during her trial.

FRIDAY MORNING.

Court convened to hear the arguments in the Lingafelter forgery case Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock. The court room was well filled with spectators.

After reading a part of a bill of requests presented the court to be read to the jury, Attorney Edward Kibler made the opening plea for the state. He told of the redemption of the Jas. Cormican stock certificate and how the defendant signed the paper which paid its money to the bearer; how, after this certificate had been paid months before, the defendant is supposed to have taken advantage of this fact, hunted out the old certificate, which by the bylaws of the institution, was in his custody, and, changing the date of redemption, wrote out the order 4407 and the receipt accompanying it, forging the signature of Cormican and presented the order to be cashed by the association. The William Roller, James Cook, Ignace Elias, H. A. and Blanche Crawford and the Timothy Fitzpatrick, Rachel Haines and the Hawthorne papers were referred to as showing guilty knowledge and intent. All of these names are claimed to be forgeries. In the Crawford case, the fact that the body of the false order is written in Lingafelter's handwriting and the name written "Crawford" and the fact that in this forged signature the same mistake is made in the spelling, was pointed out very forcefully by Mr. Kibler, who concluded his argument at 9:45.

After five minutes' recess Mr. Phil Smythe began the argument for the defense. Attorney Smythe impressed upon the minds of the jurors, the fact that the burden of proof rests upon the state. He stated that some of the state's witnesses said from the stand that they might be mistaken. He stated that the state's witnesses merely offered their opinions and that only those who were directly connected with the institution and upon whom suspicion might rest, testified positively that the forgeries were in James Lingafelter's handwriting.

In the process of his argument Mr. Smythe stated that if the jury found, beyond all reasonable doubt, that Lingafelter signed the name "James Cormican" then the defense would give up without requiring that guilty knowledge and intent be shown.

Considerable reference was made to the testimony of the handwriting expert, Mr. Pengelly (for the state) and H. D. Gould (for the defense). Mr. Smythe read excerpts from the later editions of encyclopedias which stated that the pictorial or comparison method of detecting handwriting, (used by the state's expert) was a much earlier means of accomplishing the work and was not so definite and fine to distinguish minute characteristics of handwriting. Mr. Smythe concluded his argument at 10:30 and was followed by his co-counsel, F. V. Owen.

The speaker began by impressing upon the jury their duties as jurors. He then took up the various witnesses' testimony against the defendant and showed the points in which the witnesses were either incompetent or prejudiced. Mr. Owen placed considerable emphasis on the fact that no person testified to having seen Lingafelter try to change or disguise his handwriting.

Referring to the arguments of the state against the expert, Gould, Mr. Owen's remarks were straight to the point. "Counsel on the other side wants to get away from Gould and if they think they can't laugh him out of court, they will try some other means."

The misspelling of the name Crawford, was referred to and the statement of Mr. Kibler to the effect that Lingafelter was in such haste to get this money that he didn't stop even to learn the spelling of the name. Mr. Owen in speaking of this said that there was no haste required and Mr. Lingafelter knew this, so that if he should have desired to take the money he had all kinds of time in which to do it.

In speaking of the fact that Accountant Webber was hired by Lingafelter, stated that this fact alone was enough to show that he feared no charges of any kind would be made against him, and that his conscience was clear.

At 11:45 Mr. Owen concluded his argument and court adjourned until 1 o'clock.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

At promptly 1 o'clock Friday afternoon Attorney B. G. Smythe began the closing argument for the defense. Mr. Smythe said in part:

"The fifteen hundred members, perhaps, who were depositors in this institution, saw what result? Soon two receivers were appointed. One of these, George Webb, who was a director of the institutions, appointed receiver against the laws of the land. What feeling takes possession of the human hearts burned by such an occurrence as this? Revenge! That is what they will have, and whom are they to take that revenge upon?"

"Public sentiment has been directed against the Lingafelters by the false reports, by the subsidized press of the county! Wrong impressions have been formed by influential persons who are seeking to place the blame and this revenge upon Jim Lingafelter."

"My God, will Licking county never get done prosecuting criminal cases? Is it done in the name of Justice?"

"In the way in which the argument has been conducted by the prosecution, you're liable to get away from the real issue. This is the paper (4407) which you are to investigate. It doesn't matter if the defendant committed a thousand crimes, this is the one, and the count has already instructed you that this alone is the charge on which you are to read and see the evidence to pass upon."

While speaking upon the introduction of other charges of crime, Mr. Smythe said it was unlawful, whereupon the prosecutor smiled. Turning to him Mr. Smythe said:

"Yes, sir; you can smile, but it is true nevertheless, and it will never be otherwise until the Supreme court so decides."

"Didn't the Supreme court decide it last Tuesday?" asked the prosecutor.

"No, that was not" replied Mr. Smythe, "and you are giving a false impression by making such statements." With these remarks Mr. Smythe continued his argument.

In the closing part of his argument Mr. Smythe cited legal authorities on the admission of testimony on handwriting and on expert testimony, which stated that such testimony, together with opinion testimony, was one of the weakest sorts of evidence to be considered by the courts.

Prosecutor James R. Fitzgibbon gave the closing argument of the case, beginning at 1:55.

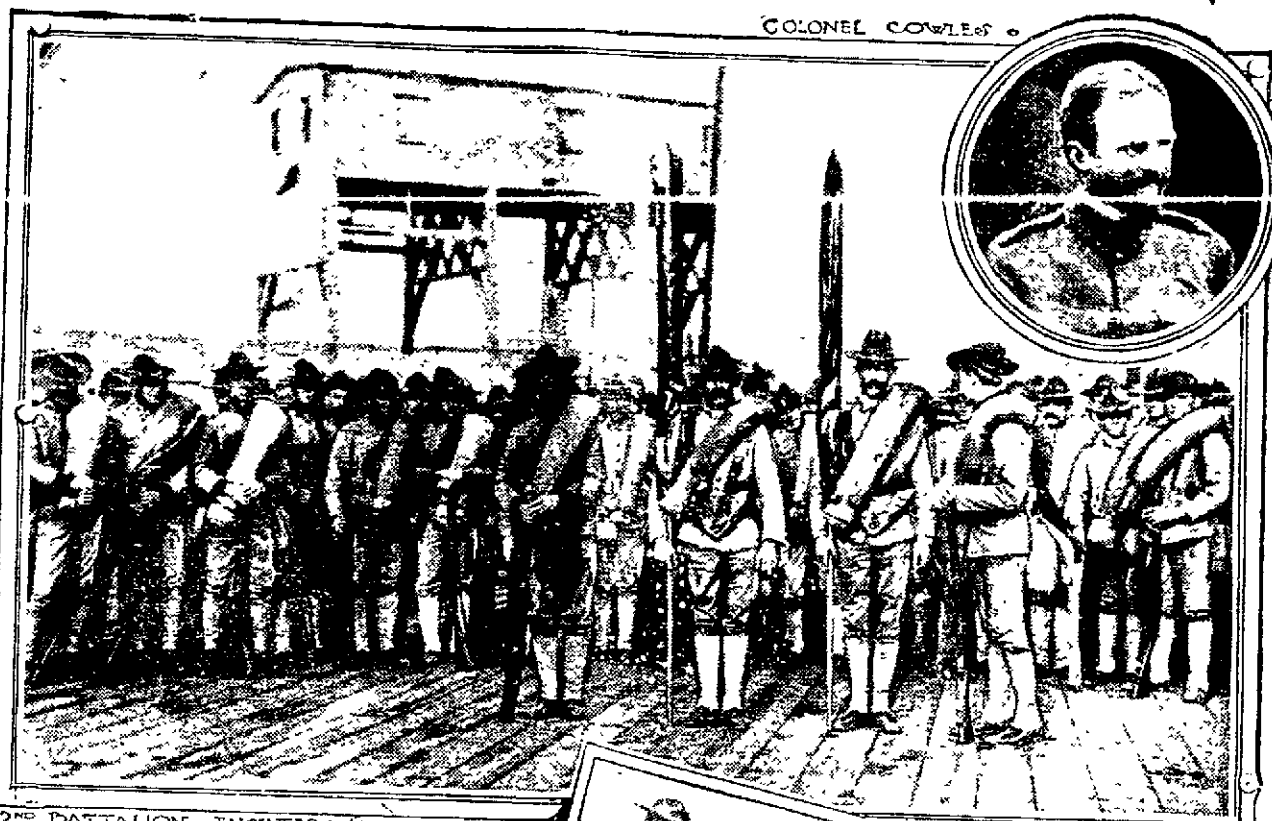

Part of his argument was given substantially as follows:

"You are not your brother's keeper. You have nothing to do with the unfortunate condition in which Jim Lingafelter finds himself. Your vanity, your sympathy, and all your emotions and passions, have been up to this point where you go down to a public with. The wrong done, or the wronged?"

"This talk about this old man spending the sunset of his life in the penitentiary. Why shall not he as to others, take the consequences of his crimes?"

In the closing argument of the state the prosecutor reviewed the testimony pertaining to the Ignace Elias. (Continued on Page 7, 2d Col.)

INSURGENTS

Resist Disarmament and General Funston is Sending Troops to Preserve Order.

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 5.—Trouble occurred at several points today over the disarmament of the insurgents. The turbulent elements objected to surrendering their weapons and in several instances have forcibly tried to resist. Guines is the point of the greatest difficulty and General Funston has dispatched a detachment of marines to preserve order and enforce disarmament.

ANNEXATION TALK.

Havana, Oct. 5.—Soothed, and with its war fever checked, the infant republic is today conversant from its attack of political colic. The fever is only temporary, however, and the general belief is that the trouble is so chronic that a permanent cure can only be effected by an operation known as annexation.

EIGHTEEN AUTOS TO START IN CUP RACE TOMORROW

CONTEST OVER COURSE OF 207 MILES WILL BEGIN AT SIX O'CLOCK A. M.

GREAT SPORT IS PROMISED

Rain Today Has Made the Course Slippery—Betting Brick-Precautions Taken.

New York, Oct. 5.—Eighteen of the fastest racing cars manufactured in the United States and Europe will start in the Vanderbilt Cup race tomorrow at Westbury, L. I. The contest is over a course of 207 miles in length. There are many dangerous turns to the racing lane. The slightest mishap to one of the powerful racing cars when tearing over the road at a speed probably 90 miles an hour will mean death or terrible injury to the occupants of the car, and the machines as they flash by will furnish a thrilling sight.

The chauffeurs have declared that they are going to win and to risk their own lives. To protect the crowd, which will be a dangerous thing, the place was fenced off about the cars.

Rigid police instructions have been issued. The foreign cars will be like a hot race with a lot of excitement. The race will be a great event. The race will be a great event. The race will be a great event.

EXPLOSION KILLS NINE MEN FOURTEEN ARE IN HOSPITALS

Whole Business Section Wrecked by Accident This Morning in Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co's Tunnel—Men Caught Like Rats in a Trap.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—Nine men were hurled to death by a gas explosion in the rapid transit subway at Sixth and Market streets at 6:30 o'clock this morning. Fourteen men are in the hospitals suffering from injuries and probably dozens more injured of whom the police heard nothing. It is believed at least nine bodies are in the "hole" either killed at once by the force of the explosion, falling timbers or suffocation.

A whole section of the business part of the City Market between Fifth and Seventh streets, was completely wrecked. Pedestrians and subway workers and those going off and coming on duty, were hurled high in the air. Street cars and teams two squares away were sent flying from the tracks to the curbs. Every window along Market and other intersecting thoroughfares were blown out by the concussion, and pedestrians fled in every direction.

Hundreds of men and women were cut, many dangerously, by falling glass. The flames leaped higher than any of the buildings and through the heavy action of a dozen men six bodies were rescued from the flames. When the explosion occurred, men, planks, horses and trolley cars were thrown into the air and came down in a great jumbled mass.

OHIO SOLDIER

Cabled His Sweetheart to Join Him at Manila—21 Hours Later He Was Drowned.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—Charles Messler, the Equipment department of the Cavite Navy Station, cabled his sweetheart in Grafton, Ohio, to start at once for Manila, where the two were to be married, and 24 hours later young Messler was drowned while bathing in Manila bay.

Seldom such a sad story is woven in the cut and dried reports received at the Navy department. Messmer is well known to many officers, having been in the service in the Philippines for nearly 8 years, and the news of his death under such extremely sad circumstances was a shock.

In company with A. E. Renahan, of the Steam Engineering department, and Mrs. Renahan, Messmer went in for a swim in the Manila surf near Sangley Point. He was caught by a strong undertow, and although he cried out for help he sank before Renahan could reach him. His body was not recovered.

Friends at once cabled to his fiancée, Miss Ida Newton and it was found she had started for the Philippines. The sad news reached her, however, as she sat foot on the steamer, on which she was to sail from Seattle. Messmer was at one time a member of the Hospital Corps in the army. He was 28 years old and his home was in Grafton, Ohio.

Heresy Charges Dismissed.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The heresy charges brought against Rev. H. G. Mitchell by the Rev. George A. Cook were dismissed by the Central New York Methodist Episcopal conference in session at Penn Yan. The committee which investigated the charges reported that in its judgment the specifications do not contain sufficient grounds to warrant the conference in proceeding to trial. It is understood, however, that the charges will be preferred in another form at the next conference.

Tammany Will Support Hearst.

New York, Oct. 5.—"No matter what Mr. Hearst does, we are going to support him," said Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, when asked in the course of an interview what attitude Tammany Hall will assume in case the Independence League nominated candidates in this city for the various judicial, senatorial and assembly offices.

Vermont's New Governor.

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 5.—Fletcher D. Proctor was inaugurated governor of Vermont. Governor Boileau's farewell message declared the conviction that capital punishment should be retained, and that laws should make it certain that all diseased cattle be slaughtered and buried or burned immediately.

Magnetic Pole Located.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 5.—Captain Ronald Anderson, discoverer of the Northwest passage, arrived from St. Petersburg, and Chicago, to report on his expedition regarding the location of the magnetic pole, and his work was successful.

Suspects Let Go.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—Laura Adams and Harry Morgan, colored, who were arrested in an attempt to kidnap a child, and charged with the murder of a child, were released on bail. The child was found alive and well.

MILLIONAIRE

Weds. Nurse Whose Gentle ministrations Brought Him Back to Health.

New York, Oct. 5.—Charles F. Halliwell, first vice president of the American Tobacco company, has been married and the woman who has bestowed her hand and heart upon him is Miss Ruth Alice Cole, a trained nurse, who attended him during the days of his convalescence from a serious operation a year ago. The wedding, which took place in All Angels' church in the presence of Miss Cole's parents, the son and married daughter of Mr. Halliwell and a score of the most intimate friends of the couple.

Mr. Halliwell is one of the founders and promoters of the American Tobacco company. He comes from St. Louis.

SHOWING OFF

His New Revolver He Shot his Sweetheart, Then Flew in Grief.

Madison, Ind., Oct. 5.—Robert Pendleton of Trimble county, Ky., called on Miss Luella Black of West Madison, and attempted to show her the good points of his new hammerless revolver, with the result that a 32 caliber ball penetrated her throat and lodged against her spinal column, causing paralysis of her lower limbs and inflicting what is feared to be a fatal wound.

Pendleton, after securing a physician, disappeared and has not been seen since. He was crazed with grief.

More Whisky Than Needed.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The commissioner of internal revenue received a letter from Henry Scott, executive officer of the San Francisco relief and Red Cross fund, stating that the committee has a large supply of whisky on hand which is of no value for relief purposes, and which it wishes to sell without taking out a special wholesale liquor dealer's license. The commissioner decided that under the act of 1875 the committee may sell these spirits in one parcel only, or at public auction in not less than 20 gallons, without the payment of special tax.

Will Appeal to Diaz.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 5.—Richardson Mason and Harle, the three Americans sentenced to be shot at Chihuahua for murdering victims to collect life insurance, will appeal to President Diaz for executive clemency and will be given time to hear from him. The date for their execution is not known. Executions in Mexico are always kept secret, no date being announced. The officer commanding the guard received a sealed envelope to be opened at a certain date, and in this envelope he finds directions as to execution of prisoners named within.

Jumped the Track.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 5.—Three persons were injured when the fast night express of the L. & N. railroad from Cincinnati jumped the track at London, Ky. The engine and mail car went into the ditch. None of the injured were seriously hurt.

MRS. LINGAFELTER FILES AFFIDAVIT

DISQUALIFYING JUDGES SEWARD AND COYNER OF THIS DISTRICT.

Samuel Gracy Granted Divorce in the Probate Court on Friday—News from the Courts.

Mrs. Mary J. Lingafelter, charged with forgery in connection with the failure of the Homestead Building Association, and whose case has been set to follow that of her husband, J. F. Lingafelter, has filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judges Seward and Coynor.

She says that by reason of the published statements and talks such a sentiment has been created as will prevent her from having a fair and impartial trial.

Amended Petition Filed.

In the case of Martin D. Hartshorn against Alfred A. Ray, the plaintiff has filed an amended petition. He asks that the line measured between the lands of the plaintiff and defendant be set aside for naught, if insisted upon by the defendant; that Jacob Showman be made a party to this action and that the line between the land of the plaintiff and that of the defendant be found and established by the court, and that upon the establishment thereof, the true line between the lands of the plaintiff and the defendant, Alfred K. Follett, dependent upon the first named line, be found and established by the court, and the rights of the parties up to the south line so established be quieted. That the defendant be restrained and enjoined from entering upon the land described in plaintiff's deed, and from further prosecuting any action at law until the final hearing thereof, and until said lines are fully found and established. And that on the final hearing the injunction be made perpetual. George E. Hartshorn and Flory & Flory, attorneys for plaintiff.

Divorce Granted.

WHERE'S FLETCHER?

About four weeks ago Edward Fletcher, employed by Edward Montgomery, who lived with his wife and four children on Mr. Montgomery's farm in St. Alban's township, disappeared, and no trace of his whereabouts have been learned. On the day of his disappearance Mrs. Fletcher and the children attended a homecoming at the township house, and on their return home in the evening, Mrs. Fletcher found a note pinned on the table saying, "I may see you again and I may not." When Mr. Fletcher left he took all his clothes and $20 with him.

UNCLAIMED

Is Body of Man Killed Near Hanover. No Word Has Been Received From Jackson, Mo.

The body of the man supposed to be H. Lindough of Jackson, Mo., a deaf mute, who was killed near Hanover on Thursday morning, still lies at the undertaking rooms of Bowers & Criss Bros., unclaimed. The undertakers say they have no reason to think the man was the victim of foul play, but are inclined to think that he was walking along the tracks and was struck by a passing train and killed.

Messages have been sent to Jackson, Mo., but up to date no reply has been received.

Secret Eleven Months. Announcement has just been made of the wedding of Miss Sadie Williams, chief operator of the Bell telephone company at Dresden, and Mr. Cole of Isletta, which was solemnized in Kentucky last November and which they have kept a secret.

In Licking County. James Douglass, Columbus manager for R. G. Dunn & Co., has returned from a trip through Licking county and says that there has been a wonderful development in that district in the last year. As an example of it he names the little town of Ulen, in Licking county, between Newark and Mt. Vernon. It is in the center of the great gas field and new industrial plants are being rapidly added to its list. Four window glass factories, three of which are in operation and another now almost completed, have located in the town. It has three banks and all of these show largely increased deposits. From all indications Licking county will show a great increase in wealth and population at the end of the year.—Friday's Columbus Journal.

Rev. Mr. McCall. At a meeting of the Baptist church following the Sunday evening services, the official board of the West Branch recommended that Rev. A. K. McCall of Hebron, be called to the assistant pastorate of the Baptist church in Cambridge, and the suggestion was unanimously ratified. Rev. Mr. McCall is well known here, having for years been pastor of the Caldwell Baptist church and later of the Old Cambridge Baptist church. His

GREW THIS HAIR

And we can PROVE IT

Testimonial No. 136.

MISS BELMA HASSEL, 2728 N. 42d Court, Chicago.

Danderine produces and maintains for the scalp a state of health and activity far above the normal. Its applications are cooling, and very invigorating to both the hair and scalp. It shows results from the very first application. It is so efficacious that a sample bottle will, in many cases, be sufficient to prove its rare specific virtues. NOW at all druggists, three sizes. 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO., Chicago.

Sore Throat Wisdom

If every mother could realize the real danger that lurks behind every case of sore throat, she wouldn't rest until she had effected a cure every time a child has it.

Your family physician will verify the statement that it is a positive fact that every child with sore throat is in immediate danger of contracting Croup, Quinsy, Tonsillitis or Diphtheria, and is not removed from that danger until the throat is cured. Think of it!

Liniments or outward application of medicines do not and cannot cure the ailment, though they may offer temporary relief. Neither can you cure sore throat with a cough syrup or a cold cure.

To cure, you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A single dose of TONSILINE taken upon the first appearance of sore throat may save long weeks of sickness, great expense, worry, even death. TONSILINE is the stitch in time.

Use a little sore throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow.

TONSILINE is the standard sore throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long-necked fellow on the 25 or 50 cent sized bottle when you go to the drug store to get it.

Men Still Missing. There is as yet no clue to the seven men who broke out of jail this week.

Independent Order of Eureka's. The Independent Order of Eureka's will meet this evening at 7:30 at the A. O. U. W. hall. All members and friends invited.

German Lutheran. The ladies' society of the German Lutheran church will hold a meeting Sunday afternoon. All ladies are requested to be present.

Hungarian Hunt. A Hungarian was seriously injured at the B. & O. shops Friday. A heavy wheel fell on him, badly mashing his left leg below the knee. Bowers & Criss Bros' ambulance conveyed the injured man to the West Main street Sanitarium.

Height Social Tonight. In connection with the monthly business meeting tonight of the Christian Endeavorers of the First Presbyterian church there will be a Height Social at 7:30 o'clock. One cent admission for each foot of your height. "A Tramp Through Europe," a musical program with light refreshments will constitute the evening's entertainment.

County Jail Cells. In commenting upon the Licking county jail delivery the Advocate asserted upon authority of a man who was instrumental in placing safeguards about the jail, that all the cells could be locked and unlocked from the corridors. The sheriff takes exception to this part of the criticism made and says that it is necessary to enter the corridor to lock and unlock the cells.

Can't Enjoin Libel. Denver, Oct. 5.—That a newspaper can not be restrained by courts of equity from publishing matter alleged to be libelous was the gist of a decision handed down by Judge Mullins of the district court when he dissolved the temporary restraining order issued by him two weeks ago against the Daily Mining Record of this city at the instance of G. G. Rice, a Goldfield (Nev.) mining promoter. If libelous matter is published in a newspaper the only recourse of the person or institution claiming to be damaged lies in an action for damages at law, ruled Judge Mullins, who stated that, according to his interpretation of the statutes, no publisher could be enjoined from printing whatever he saw fit as long as he could respond to any suit for damages.

THORNS AND ORANGE BLOSSOMS. Something new in the amusement field is always a welcome visitor, and the coming of Rowland & Clifford's newest comedy dramatic success, "Thorns and Orange Blossoms," should not be an exception to the rule. "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" is a play of the standard school and not a poorly written affair. Many are acquainted with the story of the famous author, Bertha M. Clay, wrote it, and the dramatization has been made by Lem B. Parker in a masterly manner. Rowland & Clifford have envied the piece with an elaborate scenic mounting and placed the different characters in hands of prominent and reputable players, and thus an extraordinary production is the result. "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" is booked at the Auditorium for Monday night, October 8.

Magazine Farmer.

I used to like the old paper, but now I don't want to use it. It's had a lot of changes. And it's too big as the deuce. You can't read a thing. Till you take me green. Of atomic agriculture. In a farming magazine.

It tells you how your pig pen should be built. And how to raise XIV. henhouse. Should be draped in ivy vines. I'm going to sell the old place. It's architecture's bum! And I'll buy one of them dream journals.

I'll raise no more pig pens. But I'll put a plant in and shrubs; I'll do to have best results. I see that old time dabs! I may not last a week. For I met the sheriff man. But I'm going to be a farmer. On the magazine plan!

Secretary Shaw Would Let Trust Criminals Off Easy.

The "set" speech delivered by Secretary Shaw in Columbus, Newark and various other places, is not in accord with that delivered by President Roosevelt at Harrisburg, Pa., yesterday. The President, if anything, was more emphatic than ever in demanding strict regulation of the trusts. Not so with Secretary Shaw. The latter argues in all his speeches for the repeal of the criminal features of anti-trust laws. This means that Secretary Shaw would confine the punishment of trust magnates to mere fines, when they violate the laws. What more could John D. Rockefeller ask than to be let off with a fine when the Standard Oil Company is caught and convicted of crime?

The truth is that Mr. Secretary Shaw knows, and so does every one else, that the trust magnates do not care for a few fines—they can make more by their practices while the trial is going on than the fine amounts to. But those plutocrats do dread a term of penal servitude. Let a few of them receive the punishment meted out to others guilty of far lesser crimes, and there will be a stop to combines, rebates, grafts, and other methods of trust robbery.

Suppressed the News from Coshocton

That was a very lame attempt the American-Tribune made yesterday to suppress the news from Coshocton pertaining to the action of the Trades Council of that town in reference to the Congressional candidates of this district. On September 30 the Coshocton Trades Council, after having investigated the labor records of Ashbrook and Smyser, unanimously endorsed the former and condemned the latter. Then the Republican bosses got busy hatching schemes to have another meeting of Coshocton's organized labor for the purpose of reversing the action of September 30. Accordingly three Newark delegates, of which a printer in the American-Tribune office was one, went over to Coshocton to attend a second meeting of the Trades Council there called for the purpose of getting the former action reversed. The article from the Coshocton Times printed elsewhere in this paper, gives a full description of what the second meeting did and the part the three Newark emissaries took in the affair. The result was the Coshocton Trades Council DID NOT reverse itself. Not a single motion was made to rescind the former action endorsing Ashbrook and condemning Smyser. The news was printed in the Advocate in a dispatch from Coshocton.

But the American-Tribune suppressed the news and printed in lieu thereof an old bitter editorial from the Coshocton Age attacking the Trades Council of that place and palmed the stuff off as a "Special Scripps-McRae Telegram."

The laboring men of Newark can count on getting the news in the Advocate, regardless of any political influence such news may or may not have.

SECRETARY SHAW TALKS TARIFF

MEMBER OF ROOSEVELT CABINET MAKES POLITICAL SPEECH HERE.

Iowan and Mr. Smyser Deliver "Stand Pat" Addresses Before Music Hall Crowd.

President Roosevelt's secretary of the treasury, Leslie M. Shaw, of Iowa, came to town Thursday night and was the star attraction at a Republican meeting held in Music Hall. Congressman Martin Luther Smyser was also present as it was largely in the interest of Mr. Smyser's candidacy that the cabinet member came here.

The presence of the Iowan was sufficient to draw a crowd that filled the Music Hall and the secretary was astute enough to hand out an address that held his hearers. He began with a good anecdote and in a minute or two presented another. Both were apt. Before delving into the tariff which he defended with vigor worthy of a better cause, Mr. Shaw artfully referred to the record of the Seventeenth district's congressman, painting it in the most glowing colors, after which he quoted from Shaw's Joke Book and then extolled the Dingley law. Mr. Shaw proved to be a stand-patter of the stand-pattest sort, and he endeavored to show that the tariff tax is in reality a harmless thing, in fact a tax that the people ought to be glad to pay just for the glory there is in it. He tried to show that in some cases the consumer doesn't pay the bill and in others what a glorious thing it was to be able to contribute for the protection of "infant industries" like the Steel Trust.

And for trusts to sell products to foreigners at lower prices than they charge American consumers, was not an evil in the estimation of Mr. Shaw. He labored to justify it from his stand point.

Secretary Shaw followed the same general lines of his Columbus speech of the previous night, speaking for more than two hours and devoting the greater part of his effort to the tariff proposition. He quoted figures by the yard, but not in an uninteresting way. He would sandwich a fact between two anecdotes so as to give it a pleasant taste and kept his hearers in a happy frame of mind all the while. Mr. Shaw is a lecturer rather than a stump speaker. He is an actor, not a politician. He is a good speaker, not an orator.

Before bidding good night to his audience, Mr. Shaw compared the two great parties from his point of view and tried to show that all the morality, all the patriotism, all of the brains, all of the things worth having, bear the G. O. P. stamp.

Hon. Carl Norpell presided at the meeting and he introduced both speakers with a few timely, well stated remarks.

The first speaker was Mr. Smyser, who in a "stand pat" speech, tried to square himself with the people by telling what he had done in Congress. He said he was not ashamed of the way he had voted and would do it again under similar circumstances. He paid his respects to the Advocate and imagined he delivered several solar plexus blows. Mr. Smyser had heard from the meeting of the Coshocton Trades Council and of the futile effort of local bosses to rescind the action of that labor body which had endorsed his opponent, Mr. Ashbrook, and had condemned his (Smyser's) labor record, and he was exceedingly wroth. He realized that Newark is filled with working men of the Union stamp who know their friends when they see them, and he tried to show that his opposition to labor's cause was all a mistake, a myth.

Mr. Smyser tried to hide his own personality and his own convictions behind his vote on the public building bill, but in this fight the personality of the two men—Smyser and Ashbrook—is before the people, and all Mr. Smyser's ranting, jollying, and abuse of the Advocate will not change the situation.

Secretary Shaw is making speeches everywhere except in his own State of Iowa. The reason is explained that in his own state Shaw is well known as a stand-patter for high wall tariff and a champion of the railroads and trusts. He received a tremendous licking in the last Republican State convention of Iowa on these issues. There is a strong tariff reform sentiment among Republicans in that state and Shaw is not wanted at home to make speeches.

In his adoration of the sacred Dingley tariff for the benefit of the holy trusts the vehement Smyser made the foolish prediction in his speech last night that the aforesaid Dingley tariff would be in force long after the Advocate would be forgotten. A much safer prediction is that the Advocate will continue to be printed at the old stand long after Mr. Smyser's name has disappeared in the misty past.

Coshocton union men are not so ignorant as the doddering Republican organ imagines. They know that it takes seven printers in a town to form the nucleus for a union and get the printer's label. Probably two printers altogether work in Johnstown. Mr. Ashbrook's home—Coshocton Times.

There are just four printers in the village of Johnstown, all of whom work on Mr. Ashbrook's paper, the Independent. But two of these printers have become partners of Mr. Ashbrook in its ownership and management, which leaves but two employees in the office, one of whom is a boy. In all Mr. Ashbrook's experience as publisher he never had a printer ask for an increase of wages. The increase was always given before the asking.

LABOR RECORDS OF THE TWO CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATES

Ashbrook's Record.

In response to a letter of inquiry from the legislative committee of the Coshocton Trades Council, W. J. Wiggins, state legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, makes the following statement on Mr. Ashbrook's record on labor legislation in the last session of the Ohio legislature:

"In the first place I wish to advise that I met Mr. William A. Ashbrook early in the session, and I found him ready to assist us in the passage of all meritorious labor measures. He was also willing to accept the judgment of the working people as to what was needed to give them better protection in their employment.

"My record of the 77th General Assembly shows that the Honorable William A. Ashbrook voted in the affirmative on the passage of the following labor bills:

"House Bill No. 67. A bill to provide for the well being of street car employees.

"House Bill No. 242. A bill to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon steam railroads by proper equipment.

"House Bill No. 247. A bill providing for inspection of safety appliances on steam roads.

"House Bill No. 128. A bill providing for a full train crew for freight trains.

"House Bill No. 77. A bill to abolish contract prison labor. The bill was amended in the Senate at the request of representatives of organized labor, and the bill messaged to the House for concurrence. Mr. Ashbrook voted in the affirmative. I have no record of the original passage of this bill in the House, but I think you will find that he favored its passage.

"House Bill No. 80. A bill to prohibit deception and the use of false advertising and false pretense in procuring labor.

"House Bill No. 330. A bill providing for employment of competent coal miners.

"House Bill No. 387. A bill to prevent explosion of dust charged air and gas in mines.

"House Bills Nos. 80, 330 and 387. I have no record of them in the House but I believe Mr. Ashbrook voted for them, if he was present when they were put on their passage.

"I can truthfully say that he was very anxious to support all labor measures, for which he is certainly entitled to the support of the labor vote of your district, and I trust that every member of organized labor will cheerfully use their influence to elect the Honorable William A. Ashbrook to Congress, with such an overwhelming vote that he will realize that the laboring people recognize him to be their friend, and that they appreciate his good work during his term in the Ohio Legislature.

"In conclusion I wish to advise these are facts and can be relied upon and any further information I will cheerfully furnish upon request, and you may use this letter in public print or in any other way you deem advisable."

Smyser's Record.

Congressman Smyser's labor record in Congress is thus described by Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation of Labor, in a letter to the Coshocton Trades and Labor Council:

"You request information as to the attitude of Congressman Smyser of the 17th district of Ohio as regards legislative matters in which labor is interested. Mr. Smyser has no membership on committees which have charge of labor measures so that he could not particularly emphasize his position, in that regard. However, when the question of nullifying the eight hour law as applied to the construction of the Panama canal was before the House, Mr. Smyser is recorded as having voted in favor of that measure.

"During the last session of Congress I sent out a letter to all members, (requesting them to define their attitude towards labor's bill of grievances) and to this letter Mr. Smyser has thus far made no reply.

"Let us stand by our true friends, not those who simply mouth their pretended friendship now, and whose past course gives their pretensions the lie. Let us administer a stinging defeat to all men or parties who are either indifferent, negligent or hostile."

was not even a motion to reconsider the endorsement given to Hon. W. A. Ashbrook as the laboring man's candidate for Congress. It cannot be claimed that there was any "grand larceny" about this meeting as its calling was advertised by the Republican organ in tripple lead matter on its front page in which it boasted how the former action would be "re-scinded."

DENTISTS BANKRUPT.

Growing Use of Nature Foods Killing the Dentists' Practice.

When you sit in the dentist's chair and feel the drill gnaw right down to the nerve, do you ever stop to wonder how your poor ancestors bore that pain 200 years ago, when the only instrument was the forceps and they didn't take gas?

Don't waste your time wondering. Our forefathers lived close to Nature. They didn't have their meals called off in French, sandwiched between times with munchings of bitter sweets and a thousand other dainties.

If we but knew the secret of a bankrupt dentistry and a depleted medical practice in general we would take time to consider the cause. If the forces at work upon those teeth of yours, the hardest structure in your body, can get the results they accomplish down in the inner and more delicate organisms? What of the stomach, the bowels, the brain and the nerves, subjected day and night to the most frightful tasks of digestion and assimilation of so-called "food," the carrying off of waste tissue and the supplying of vigor and action to the body? Are you doing anything to protect yourself?

Take away the cause! Use moderation and judgment in your demands upon your stomach, for there is the center from which all pain or soundness springs. It's the stomach that feeds the bones, the muscles, the nerve and the brain. If you feel your strength giving out and don't know the cause, your stomach will point it out. Undoubtedly you are giving it an ill proportioned or crammed diet.

Wheat and barley alone contain all the elements necessary to the normal constitution: muscle heat, brain and nerve producers are found in the grain of wheat and barley in the exact proportion required for a robust body. Any variance from this diet means not only wasted energy but sure injury to some vital organ.

The natural food is Hardyfood—made of selected grains, combined in such proportions as will properly nourish the whole system.

Hardyfood builds bone and muscle, tempers the body feeds the brain and settles and strengthens the nerves. It is good for the laborer and the office man. It builds up the tissues of the young and restores strength to the old.

Hardyfood is a delightfully pure and satisfying dish that the stomach looks forward to. You can't tire of Hardyfood because it can be served in so many different ways. Eaten dry, or with cream and fruit juices it is delicious. Served hot from the oven or cooked as porridge, if desired, it is equally appetizing.

Cut down your doctor's bills and live normally. Try Hardyfood at your grocer's. It costs only a dime. Isn't it worth the price to get started right? Hardyfood at your grocers. 16 cents.

SMYSER'S FRIENDS FUTILE EFFORT

TO HAVE THE COSHOCTON LABOR UNION RESCUE ITS ACTION.

Coshocton Times Gives Interesting Details of That Trades Council Meeting.

A special to the Advocate from Coshocton Thursday told of the futile effort made by a delegation of Newark Republicans to have the Coshocton Trades Council rescind its action endorsing Ashbrook and condemning Smyser. But the following from the Coshocton Times gives further interesting details of the Coshocton meeting. The Times says:

The Trades Council held a special meeting last night, the same being called at the instance of and in courtesy to a request coming from parties alleging themselves to be union men from Newark and members of the Newark Trades Council, sent on a mission from that body to the labor unions of Coshocton. This meeting, for apparent political reasons was advertised in a most conspicuous way by the Republican organ in a column article on its first page in which it plainly told Republican laboring men that their votes would be needed in the meeting to support an important political action that it would be attempted to take.

At the appointed hour about forty delegates to the Trades Council appeared and the meeting was fully as large and representative as are most of the sessions of the central body.

Edwin Miller was in the chair and he most courteously presented the strangers from Newark. One of these was a man named Donahue, and he represented himself as being a union printer. He opened his remarks by declaring against the idea of the labor unions taking any hand in politics. He deplored the idea and showed that he was hostile to Samuel Gompers and his notions. The fellow now pulled a statement from his pocket to the effect that Mr. Ashbrook was running a non-union shop in getting out his paper at Johnstown and that he was not the friend of labor he had been proclaimed and that the laboring men would make a mistake in voting for him. This document was numerous signed by the publisher of the Newark Tribune and a list of printers and others. Donahue was permitted to make his argument through, but at the close of his remarks he was put foul of a run of questions that quite unmasked his guns and revealed him as a Republican emissary evidently in the pay of Smyser and Heisey. He was asked to what union he belonged, and he said the printers. What paper do you work on? came next.

To this he replied, "The American Tribune."

Is not the Tribune owned largely by Mr. Heisey, the postmaster at Newark who owes his appointment to Smyser?" came next.

"It is," confessed Donahue.

"You say that Ashbrook conducts a non-union shop?"

"Yes."

"How large is Johnstown?"

"It has about 500 people."

"How many papers?"

"One, that run by Ashbrook."

"How many printers does he work?"

"Two and a boy."

"How many printers does it take to form a union and get a charter and the label?"

"It takes seven."

"Is it the duty of Ashbrook or of the unions to organize his shop if he worked printers enough?"

"It would be the duty of the unions."

"Did the Newark unions ever try to organize Johnstown?"

"No, they did not."

"That will do," said his examiner with all the song froid of the hardened advocate after whipping out a witness on cross-examination.

A glassblower by the name of Hamilton now took the floor and he became loud and excited in his attack upon the position taken by the Coshocton Trades Council in showing its hand in a political way. He especially lamented the terrible mistake that was made in giving the endorsement to Ashbrook, when he declared that it should have gone to Smyser. He was permitted to make his little spiel and then he too was taken in hand and questioned closely.

"Are you not the glassblower commonly called George B. Cox Hamilton in your home town because you try to boss the Newark Trades Council and control it in a political way?"

He admitted that the boys did sometimes call him by nicknames just in fun.

"And do not you work in the glass factory run by a son of Mr. Heisey, the man who runs the Tribune and is postmaster in your town by favor of Mr. Smyser?"

He had to admit the corn and when he did, he was told that that would do for him.

At the close of the speechmaking Mr. Miller, the president announced, "I am now ready to entertain a motion to reconsider the action of this council in endorsing the candidacy of

Hon. W. A. Ashbrook for Congress. There was an ominous silence for some seconds and then the fingers of the president played a tattoo on the table before him, but no motion to reconsider was not forthcoming. All the delegates sitting grim and silent in their places.

Finally the president announced that if there was no business a motion to adjourn would be in order and the council speedily adjourned.

The only result of this trick put up by the Republicans has been to make more emphatic the turn down given to Smyser. It is now freely predicted that Smyser's bold bluff method about in a through Newark men will see the people's wagon, never take up a collection working people solid against him, not sing the Torrey-Alexander hymns only in this county but in the other and are all personal workers.

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Local Weakness than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Periods, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it. Deranged organs, causing pain, weight and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that bearing-down feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the organs, which this medicine surely cures. Chronic Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound cures.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

LINGAFELTER TRIAL

the H. O. and Blanche Crawford papers, and stated that not one atom of difference in the character of the transactions mentioned, and the one mentioned in the indictment.

The prosecutor went over the testimony of the various witnesses for both the state and the defense, and pointed out very forcefully his side of the question. He also called attention to various inconsistencies in the testimony adduced by the witnesses for the defense. He stated that no man under oath, hearing the testimony which had been given by the state, could find the defendant other than guilty.

In speaking of the guilty knowledge of the defendant, Mr. Fitzgibbon stated that it was a well defined rule of law that the utterance of other proven forgeries may be taken into consideration as tending to show the commission of the crime charged in the indictment.

The prosecutor concluded at 3:01, after which the jury retired upon hearing the charge of the court at 3:27 o'clock.

JUDGE CAMPBELL'S CHARGE.

At the September Term, 1904, of this court, the grand jury returned an indictment against the defendant, charging that, on the 15th day of June, 1906 with force and arms, in the county of Licking, and State of Ohio, the defendant did falsely make, forge and counterfeit a certain receipt for money which said false, forged and counterfeited receipt for money is of the purpose and value following:

No. 1107, "Newark, O., June 13, 1900. Received of The Homestead Building and Savings Co., $100.00 dollars in full for 4 shares, meaning 4 shares of paid-up stock, redeemed, and signed James Cormican; with intent, then and there and thereby, unlawfully to defraud, contrary to the statute in such case made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the State of Ohio.

You will look to this indictment which you will have with you on retirement, for a complete statement of this criminal charge, and explanation of the abbreviations appearing in the alleged receipt.

The return of an indictment by a grand jury creates no presumption of guilt, its office being simply to apprise a party accused of the nature of the offense alleged, as no man can be prosecuted for a felony under our constitution and laws without it.

To this indictment, the defendant pleads not guilty, thus challenging the truthfulness of every allegation it contains, and casting upon the State the burden of proving all the elements constituting the crime of forgery, under our law, beyond all reasonable doubt, as no one can be convicted of crime without this high degree of proof.

Unless you, and each one of you, are satisfied that the guilt of the defendant is established by this high degree of proof on the part of the State, he is entitled to your verdict, and you should find him not guilty.

The statute under which this indictment is returned provides among other things, "that whoever falsifies, makes, forges, or counterfeits any receipt for money with intent to defraud is guilty of forgery," and shall be punished as the law prescribes.

No presumption of guilt arises from the finding of the indictment; but, on the contrary, the defendant is presumed innocent until his guilt is shown beyond a reasonable doubt, and this presumption goes with and remains with him throughout the trial. It inures to his benefit until it is overcome by evidence establishing his guilt beyond all reasonable doubt.

This presumption is not a shield to protect a party charged with the commission of crime from the consequences of his criminal acts but is a substantive, personal right well recognized by law.

But when the evidence establishes guilt beyond all reasonable doubt, it is no longer available as a defense and a verdict of guilty should be returned.

When a case is doubtful, this presumption of innocence operates in favor of the defendant's acquittal.

To constitute the crime of forgery as alleged in the indictment, the State must prove beyond reasonable doubt that the defendant made out the receipt in question and signed the name of James Cormican thereto, without his authority or consent.

That this act was committed in Licking county, Ohio, on or about June 13, 1900.

That the forgery charged against the defendant was committed by him with intent to defraud.

It is not enough to find by the high degree of proof mentioned that the receipt in question was not made and executed by James Cormican at the time stated. You must also be satisfied that the defendant committed the act of forgery and that he did it with intent to defraud.

Criminality in cases of this kind consists in the intent, or purpose, with which the act is done, in connection with the act itself.

Forgery consists in falsely making or altering a paper, writing to the prejudice of another's rights.

In this case, the alleged forgery consists in a falsely making, forging and counterfeiting of a receipt for the payment of money, with intent to defraud.

If you find from the evidence, beyond all reasonable doubt, that on or about June 13, 1900, the defendant unlawfully did falsely make, forge and counterfeit the receipt described in the indictment by making out said receipt and signing the name of James Cormican thereto, without his knowledge, authority or consent; and you further find that he committed said act or acts with intent to defraud as charged in the indictment; and that the same was done in the county of Licking and State of Ohio, you will find the defendant guilty, and so say by your verdict.

You will first inquire whether or not the receipt described in the indictment is a forged receipt for money.

If you find it is a forged receipt, did the defendant, James F. Lingafelter, falsify, make, forge and counterfeit the same as charged?

Though you may find the said receipt to be a forgery, if you fail to find beyond all reasonable doubt that the defendant, James F. Lingafelter, made out the same and signed the name of James Cormican thereto, without authority from him so to do, you need inquire no further, and return a verdict of not guilty.

Should you find, however, beyond all reasonable doubt, that the said receipt is a false and forged receipt for money, and that the defendant made out the same, and signed the name of James Cormican to the same without his knowledge or authority, you will pass to the consideration of the second material allegation contained in the indictment, whether or not the defendant did falsely make, forge and counterfeit the same, with intent to defraud.

If you are satisfied from the evidence, beyond all reasonable doubt, that James F. Lingafelter signed the name of James Cormican to the said receipt, without his knowledge or authority, with intent to defraud, such signing of said receipt would be a criminal act, and said receipt would be falsely made, counterfeited and forged.

Though you may find that the defendant made out the receipt in question, and signed the name of James Cormican thereto, without his authority or knowledge, such act or acts, in and of themselves, are not sufficient proof of the intent to defraud.

It may be shown, however, by the act or acts of a similar character of the party charged with the criminal purpose or intent.

The guilty knowledge and intent of the defendant in the commission of the alleged offense, as the State contends, are evidenced by other unlawful acts of his of a similar character concurrent with the act charged in the indictment, or during the time of its official relation to the company or association in question.

Testimony of other acts of the defendant of the kind and character charged in the indictment has been admitted, which you will consider in passing on the question of the guilty knowledge and intent of the defendant in committing the offense charged against him.

If you find that the defendant committed other acts of a like character to that charged in the indictment as claimed by the State, such acts may be considered by you as tending to establish the presumption of guilty knowledge and intent and presence in the mind of the defendant at the time of intent to defraud.

This class of testimony is admissible as tending to raise the presumption that the defendant in the commission of the forgery charged, did the act with intent to defraud.

These other alleged forgeries of a similar or like character to the forgery charged in the indictment, and relied on by the State as tending to show guilty knowledge and intent to defraud in the commission by the defendant of the forgery charged in the indictment, must also be proven beyond all reasonable doubt.

If you find that any one or more of them is not so proven you will not consider such receipt in your investigation.

It is not necessarily essential in order to find the defendant guilty of an intent to defraud that he intended to defraud James Cormican, whose name is charged he forged and counterfeited, as it appears on the receipt in question; but if some other person, company or association, who or which might have been defrauded; and if shown by the evidence to your satisfaction to be so defrauded.

You must find that the name of James Cormican was not on the receipt for money, and that the receipt was not the receipt for money as charged in the indictment and the essential element on the face of the matter.

If you find that the defendant made and forged the receipt as you have been instructed with intent to defraud and did falsely make, forge and counterfeit the name of James Cormican thereto with intent to defraud, it is immaterial who was defrauded thereby, or was thereby intended to be defrauded.

If you find that the said receipt was forged and counterfeited by the defendant, with intent to defraud, was it effectual in subverting the purpose intended, and was some company or association, named and appearing in the evidence, charged with the money appropriated for the payment of said receipt?

Testimony other than facts within the knowledge of witnesses, has been permitted, bearing on the question of genuineness or the contrary, of signatures to papers, certificates, orders and receipts offered in evidence, and which will be before you.

This is called expert, or opinion evidence, and is sometimes the only available means to convict the criminal classes, or secure a just result in a civil action.

The testimony of expert witnesses should be considered by the jury in connection with all the other testimony in the case, and its weight determined by them.

Its value as an aid in determining all questions upon which it has been introduced, will depend upon the character, the capacity, the skill, the fairness, the interest, or want of it, on the part of those expressing opinions upon disputed handwriting.

Those who are not expert in handwriting are permitted to give their opinions in cases of this kind after they have satisfied the court of their acquaintance and familiarity with the handwriting of the party charged, and are able to say whether or not the signature, or signatures in dispute are in the handwriting of such party.

Such testimony is before you in this case, and you will give it your careful consideration and such weight as, in your judgment, it is entitled to.

The exhibits, containing the signatures in dispute, as well as the adminitrally genuine signatures, and other handwriting of the defendant, will be submitted to you in your deliberations, which you will examine and scrutinize, in connection with all the other testimony in the case.

I have said that you must be satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt of the defendant's guilt, as charged in the indictment, before you will be justified in returning a verdict of guilty against him.

This term is of such great importance in every criminal trial, that you should possess a fair understanding of its meaning in passing to the consideration of the case in your jury room.

The evidence against the defendant must be sufficient to exclude the least presumption of innocence and clearly satisfy you of his guilt before you may return a verdict of guilty against him.

Our Supreme court, many years ago, said upon this subject that "A verdict of guilty can never be returned without convincing evidence."

"The law is too humane to demand a conviction while a rational doubt remains in the minds of the jury."

"You will be justified and required to consider a reasonable doubt as existing if the material facts, without which guilt cannot be established, may fairly be reconciled with innocence."

"In human affairs, absolute certainty is not always attainable."

"From the nature of things, reasonable certainty is all that can be attained on many subjects."

"When a full and candid consideration of the evidence produces a conviction of guilt and satisfies the mind to a reasonable certainty a mere captious or ingenious artificial doubt is of no avail."

"You will look then to all the evidence, and if that satisfies you of the defendant's guilt, you must say so."

"If you are not fully satisfied, but find that only that there are strong probabilities of guilt your only safe course is to acquit."

While you must not convict the defendant on suspicion, or return a verdict against him upon the ground that possibly he may be guilty, you must not draw upon your imagination for such a reasonable doubt of his guilt, as above defined.

A reasonable doubt, to be available, must be found inside the case; not outside, or beyond it. There must be such a want or failure of convincing proof of guilt, taking all the testimony together, that you cannot conscientiously say by your verdict that the defendant is guilty of the offense charged.

This reasonable doubt is an honest uncertainty existing in the mind, after hearing and carefully and impartially considering and weighing all the evidence in the case, under instructions heretofore given you.

It is not a captious or visionary doubt, but one for which a substantial reason may be given.

The evidence must be such as to impress your minds with a clear and abiding conviction of guilt, or the defendant is entitled to an acquittal.

It is neither my duty nor my inclination to deal with the facts of this case in these instructions. They are altogether for your consideration.

I ask you to consider and review carefully all the testimony introduced, remembering that to your judgment is committed a sacred trust, and your sworn obligation will not be wholly discharged unless you faithfully perform your duty.

Issues are determined not altogether or always by the number of witnesses appearing and giving their testimony but by the character and quality of what they detail before you.

Consider the means each witness may have of knowing what he relates, his fairness; his interest or want of it, his immaturity, or bias, and from all these deduce your conclusions.

You are the judges of the weight to be given the testimony of all witnesses, and the significance of every proper submitted in evidence.

You will take these instructions as the law by which you will be governed in passing on this case and coming to a conclusion.

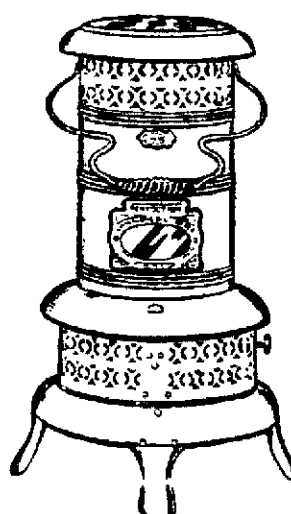

As they are in writing, and you will have them with you they cannot be changed or modified by the court during your deliberations.

If you find beyond all reasonable doubt, after a careful consideration of all the evidence before you, that on or about June 13, 1900, at the county of Licking, and State of Ohio, the defendant, James F. Lingafelter, unlawfully did falsely make, forge and counterfeit the receipt described in the indictment, by making out said receipt and signing the name of James Cormican thereto, without his knowledge, authority or consent; and that you further find beyond all reasonable doubt, that said defendant, James F. Lingafelter, committed said acts with intent to defraud as charged in the indictment, and so say by your verdict.

If you fail so to find, your verdict will be "not guilty."

In submitting this case to you, I would remind you of your responsibility as citizen jurors, and the duty our law imposes on you. Personal rights, on the one hand, should be religiously guarded, and public interests, on the other, fully protected. The State, by its Constitution and laws, pledges its protection to every citizen, and, in return, demands obedience to those laws.

Earnestly and impartially consider this case, and let your verdict reflect the honest judgment of conscientious jurors regardless of the consequences of your finding.

S.S.S. CURES CANCEROUS ULCERS

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing, and shows signs of eating into the surrounding flesh, it is safe to say that the blood is infected with cancerous germs. Some old taint or poison that has lain dormant awaiting a favorable opportunity to assert itself has found an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body, and the place has become inflamed and festering, and a chronic ulcer is the result. When middle age is reached or passed, and the vital powers are naturally weaker, a hurt of any kind heals slowly, and often an insignificant scratch or bruise on warty growths, moles, pimples, etc., will begin to inflame and are soon large, eating ulcers. The cancerous germs are rooted in the blood, and while salves, plasters, lotions, etc., keep the surface clean, they are useless in affecting a cure. S.S.S. cures cancerous ulcers by going down into the blood and removing the germs and poisons which produce the trouble. It cleanses the circulation of all unhealthy matter, and when the cause is removed the sore heals permanently. S. S. S. enriches and strengthens the entire blood-supply, and being purely vegetable, it is a pleasant, safe remedy for young or old, and ulcers of every kind yield promptly to its curative properties. PALMA'S PLAN IN BEGINNING

Disclosed by Cuban Correspondence
Just Made Public.

HE ASKED FOR INTERVENTION

Cuba's President and Cabinet Decided Fully a Month Ago to Quit—Root Talks With Chinese Minister About Boycott—Federal Authorities to Enforce the Eight-Hour Law.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Secretary Root made public the correspondence leading up to intervention in Cuba. The correspondence took place between Consul General Steinhardt at Havana and Acting Secretary Bacon of the state department. An important feature developed in the dispatches was that intervention was asked by the Cuban government as early as Sept. 8, and that as long ago as Sept. 14 President Palma determined to resign as president of the republic, and that the vice president and cabinet ministers also determined to no longer continue in office. It is also shown that intervention by the United States was long planned by the Palma government and was communicated to the state department in a letter by Steinhardt as early as Sept. 5. The department of justice will enforce the eight-hour law, and instructions have been sent to special agents of the department in various parts of the country to investigate the question as to whether there have been violations of the law on the part of contractors engaged in public works. As complaints have been made of such violations by contractors employed in the improvement of the Ohio river, special instructions were sent to special agents in that section to make a thorough investigation. The evidence collected will be placed in the hands of United States attorneys for prosecution if, in their judgment, the facts warrant it.

The commissioner of internal revenue, Mr. Yerkes, will issue soon regulations governing the manufacture, sale and use of denatured alcohol under the act passed at the last session of congress. During the summer Commissioner Yerkes visited the principal countries of Europe with a view to ascertaining what safeguards were thrown around the manufacture and sale of denatured alcohol, and prepared comprehensive regulations expected to meet every exigency that may arise.

Sir Chen Tung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, called on Secretary Root and had a talk with him regarding the Chinese boycott of American goods which earlier in the year threatened to assume serious proportions, but which, because of the edicts of the viceroys, practically subsided.

SLENDER CLEW

By Which Detectives Hope to Locate Japanese Bank Robbers.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—The police are working on a new theory that may lead to the arrest of the two men who robbed the Japanese Golden Gate bank, fatally wounded S. Hurakat, the president, and so injured A. Sasaki, the cashier, that he hovers between life and death. The police are holding up the names of all white depositors of the bank. They believe the robbers may have deposited money in the bank to learn all they could about the surroundings and the business habits of the employees. If the robbers did deposit money there it probably was done under fictitious names. It will be a thin thread to follow but it may give the police something tangible on which to work.

TALKING MACHINE

Played a Sacred Song at the Trial and the Aged Prisoner was Promptly Acquitted.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 5.—As the trial of Joseph Ager, an aged German charged with assault, was in progress a phonograph in an adjoining building began playing:

"Ask the Savior to help you." Raising his hands in supplication, the lawyer for the defense called the jury's attention to the sentiment of the song, repeating the words as the machine produced the melody. There were many bowed heads in the courtroom at the close of the dramatic incident. Ager was acquitted.

BAKED APPLE

Filled With Poison Prepared by the Nurse for the Little Girl as a "Tempting Morsel."

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 5.—Eustice Higgins, a negro nurse, is under arrest here charged with attempting to poison little Ruth Mitchell by putting carbolic acid in a baked apple. It was the child's second birthday.

The mother had directed the nurse to prepare something tempting for the child to eat. The apple was brought steaming hot, and when the mother attempted to cool it with her breath, she detected the odor of the deadly poison. Confronted with the accusation the negro fled, but detectives followed her and she is now in jail, speechless to all inquiries as to who she did such a deed, except that she says the negro woman are in league to help their men in the struggle says is on between the races.

The child is the young daughter of Oscar Mitchell, local representative of the Seaboard Air Line.

AS A WITNESS

LaFollette Will Appear Before the Minnesota Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 5.—Senator Robert LaFollette of Wisconsin has agreed to appear as a witness before the Minnesota state railroad and warehouse commission, which is holding a hearing regarding commodity rates in this state, and give testimony concerning the existence of "yellow dog" funds said to have been contributed to by the railroads to bring about his political downfall. At the hearing it was openly charged that President Marvin Hughitt of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad paid $5,000 from the funds of the company as campaign contributions to one of the national political parties.

Mine Owner Missing. Gloucester, O., Oct. 5.—J. Will Smith, owner of the Sedalia mine here, is absent and claims to the amount of $4,000 have been filed against him. The mine has been attached by the sheriff of Athens county and is now at a standstill. Smith purchased the mine a few months ago, agreeing to pay $35,000 for the property.

Child's Peculiar Accident. Kenton, O., Oct. 5.—Lehman Crevelson, 3, jerked a pair of scissors off a nail in the wall, and in falling one of the blades penetrated his right eye to the brain. He may die.

SHE WORE SWEATER

And Trousers "Hoboing" Way Along With Brother to a New Home in the West.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—Garbed as a man, a 12 year old girl, giving her name as Asha Mead and her home as Terre Haute, Ind., was arrested at the foot of Park avenue. She was accompanied by William L. Mead, 19 years old, who, she says is her brother.

The girl was dressed in shabby trousers and a sweater. In the pocket of the trousers which she had shorn before the two departed from Terre Haute. Her manner aroused the suspicion of two central district policemen, who placed the two under arrest as they were on their way to catch an Iron Mountain train to Reed Spring, Mo., where, they say, Mrs. Lottie Howard, an aunt, lives.

From Charleston, Ill. to East St. Louis they beat their way on freight trains. From Terre Haute to Charleston they rode first class. They had $4.19 when they started.

Mrs. Ida L. Mead is the mother of the couple they say, and she decided to break up her home a week ago. The youth was going to his aunt, and his sister was so devoted to him that she refused to allow him to depart without her.

Fire destroyed the Soo roundhouse and machine shops at Bismarck, N. D. Loss estimated at $100,000. Fire supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

DODGED DUTY

As Guardsman and Now Judge Dillon Holds That Military Law Is Supreme.

Columbus, Oct. 5.—That National guardsmen are amenable to military law and that the civil process is ineffectual to prevent its enforcement was the decision of Judge Edmund B. Dillon of the Common Pleas court, in refusing a writ of habeas corpus to Private Alfred Welsh, of Company A, Fourth regiment, O. N. G. He failed to respond to the call to suppress the mining troubles in Jefferson county last June and was arrested by the military officials, and locked up in the city prison. Welsh went to the field under protest and the suit was filed. In discussing the petition Judge Dillon said:

"In the absence of any special statutes in derogation thereof the rules and regulations of the military law, unless inhibited by some constitutional regulation, must prevail. That an arrest and temporary detention for a reasonable time may be made without charges being preferred is not only well settled in military law but is recognized in civil law and is not unconstitutional."

SEN. PLATT SUCCEEDS IN DODGING HIS WIFE

New York, Oct. 5.—Senator Platt successfully dodged his wife.

She came from Highland Hill to see him. First she went to the Fifth Avenue hotel and then she hurried to the Waldorf-Astoria, where she had lunch. All of the time she used the telephone liberally trying to get into communication with the senator.

In ever increasing humiliation she pursued the senator to the Hotel Gotham and then she drove to the United States Express company's offices, where she missed the senator by a few moments. Baffled in every quarter and angry, she returned to Toga lodge.

Every precaution has been taken by the senator and by his host to prevent Mrs. Platt from seeing him, and Mrs. Platt now realizes the senator has set his face unalterably against her.

TROUBLE AT TOKYO.

Marquis Ito Called Home From Korea to Quiet Jap Cabinet.

Tokyo, Oct. 5.—Marquis Ito is to return from Korea in November to patch up serious differences which have arisen in the Japanese cabinet. Dissensions have been caused between the military and civil parties as a result of persistent interferences of the military party. Fearing that friction would result in the disruption of Marquis Saloni's cabinet, some members of the cabinet privately wrote to Marquis Ito and he has agreed to return. Some alarmist dispatches from Harbin are printed by Japanese papers to the effect that the Russians are steadily pushing forward the defense works at Harbin, a line of forts extending for miles being under construction. Some dispatches speak of troops also being massed. One correspondent says: "This clearly shows that Russia intends to wage a war of retaliation against Japan." A Mukden dispatch says Russians are employing Chinese spies to inform them of the movements of Japanese troops in Manchuria.

CUBAN REBELS GIVE UP GUNS

But Some of Them Show Reluctance About Doing It.

DISARMAMENT GOING SLOW

Insurgent Sentinels Threatened to Fire at Funston Before Knowing Who They Halted. Followed by Profuse Apologies—Talk of Annexation. Status of Cuban Congress.

Havana, Oct. 5.—Disarmament operations show considerable delay and confusion, but no real opposition. On the whole the work is proceeding smoothly, and the only complication encountered was met and disposed of by General Funston, assisted by General Agramonte of the disarmament committee. It appears that General Asbert's agreement to disarm and disband was conditional on the surrender and disarmament also of all the policemen in the town of Guines. General Funston and Agramonte went to Guines to straighten out the matter. After their arrival the mayor of Guines, Senor Ayala, absolutely refused to discharge the police. General Funston declared that unless the mayor agreed to the conditions an armed force would be sent to disarm Asbert's army, which numbers 1,100 men, and that it would possibly result in bloodshed. Argument had no effect on the mayor until he was told that he could retain the police payroll and reinstate his men after quiet is restored.

General Funston further suggested the sending of marines to police the town temporarily, and this plan was accepted. General Funston and Agramonte then visited General Asbert at the village of Cotto and found him agreeable to the compromise. Accordingly 25 marines will be sent to Guines to police the town and to receive the arms of Asbert's force.

While on their way from Havana to Guines Generals Funston and Agramonte were halted by insurgent sentinels, who threatened to fire upon them in the belief that they belonged to the rural guards. The sentinels were profuse in their apologies when they learned their error.

There were some shots in the vicinity of Santa Clara fired by volunteers who were not yet disbanded, but Governor Aleman telegraphed to Governor Taft that disarmament in Santa Clara province was going on steadily and quietly. Senor Aleman consented to remain as governor of the province.

The chief of police telephoned an order to all the police stations to take small arms from all insurgents throughout the city. Damasco Castillo, an insurgent, was seized by the police while riding past a precinct station. Castillo resisted, and in the melee which followed his arm was cut with his own machete. As soon as he was overpowered he was taken to jail, followed by crowd of several hundred persons, including a number of mounted rebels.

This crowd surrounded the jail and the excitement was growing when Alfredo Zayas, the Liberal leader, arrived on the scene. After a long parley he procured the release of Castillo after the man surrendered his revolver to the police. Senor Zayas is of the opinion that the taking of weapons from rebels when they are at the disposal of the disarmament commission is unjust persecution.

The first claim for damages resulting from acts committed by the insurgents was presented to the provisional government by the French charge d'affaires. Governor Taft told the French official to file his claims. The governor is considering the appointment of a bureau to adjust claims.

Coincident with the occupation of the palace by Governor Taft, the garrison of rural guardsmen maintained there since the beginning of the trouble was sent elsewhere. The palace is guarded by a dozen policemen. Residents of all nationalities are discussing the possibilities of Cuba's future form of government. The desire for annexation, which has been carefully concealed for the past four years, is voiced openly, and the wish that the United States take some measure of actual control in Cuban affairs is heard more insistently than ever.

Representatives of leading elements both Cuban and foreign have been asked to attend a meeting Sunday to discuss the feasibility of holding some sort of plebiscite, which all classes of the population could be enabled to express their opinion on what the true form of government should be. One plan suggested is the formation into groups of various foreign elements, each of which will formulate its own project for government.

The idea of holding the next elections in January has been entirely abandoned, the logical preference among Cuban appearing to favor holding elections in June. The question of the salaries after the provisional government took charge will be decided in Washington.

MAD MOTORMAN

Race Car Filled With Passenger Across New York at Full Speed. Was Finally Subdued.

New York, Oct. 5.—A streetcar filled with terrified passengers dashed across New York at full speed while the motorman, Leo Schwartz, suddenly bereft of his reason, stood on the forward platform flourishing a heavy controller bar and attempting to brain any one who approached him. He was finally subdued and the car brought to a stop after a desperate struggle with half a dozen policemen and street railway employees, during which several passengers jumped from the moving car and sustained painful bruises. One of the men who fought the mad motorman was severely injured.

JOHN B. MORAN

Unanimously Nominated for Governor of Massachusetts and Bryan is Endorsed.

Boston, Oct. 5.—John B. Moran was unanimously nominated for governor of Massachusetts by the Democratic state convention. A platform calling for many sweeping changes in legislative and municipal affairs was adopted. The platform also declared for public ownership of public utilities in nation, state and city, endorsed W. J. Bryan and W. R. Hearst, and before the convention adjourned adopted a resolution offered from the floor endorsing Mr. Bryan as the next Democratic nominee for president.

Handman Let Out. New York, Oct. 5.—Bureau Handman of Louisville, Ky., general agent for the Mutual Life Insurance company for Tennessee and Kentucky, was dismissed from the service of that company. The announcement was made after a meeting of the committee on insurance and agencies. Handman is a candidate for trustee on the "selected fusion ticket."

YOUNG GIRL

Imprisoned by Father to Prevent Her Marriage to a Black Man.

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 5.—Miss Freda Mitchell, a pretty Syrian girl of 18, was released from the home of her father upon a writ of habeas corpus granted by Judge Hervey in the Circuit court yesterday. According to the evidence accompanying the writ Miss Mitchell was incarcerated in her home by her father and a negro constable sent to guard her. The reason for the incarceration is said to have been to prevent the girl from marrying Alexander Kaanan, a rich Syrian manufacturer of this city, with whom the father had disagreed in a business transaction.

The father is said to have made an effort to send his daughter back to Syria, and in this connection compelling her to turn over $300 which she had deposited in Wheeling banks. The girl flatly refused to do either of these things. Hence the trouble. The matter was placed in the hands of Colonel G. B. Caldwell, who is acting as counsel for the girl and her friends. It will be argued Sunday when it will be decided whether the father will have permanent custody of the girl, the father claiming she is not yet of age.

The papers were served by Deputy Sheriff Curtis Rice, and the girl was released.

When Rice started away with the writ the constable objected and endeavored to take her from the deputy by force. The latter pulled his revolver and took the girl away.

Czar Back in His Castle.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—The emperor and members of the imperial family who were cruising in Finnish waters on the yacht Standart returned to Petrohof. The emperor will move almost immediately to his winter residence at Tsaritsa Selo.

DRIVEN OUT.

Mexican Agitators Forced Across the Line Into Arms of Guards.

Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 5.—Bruno Trevino, Carlos Humbert Learnedo Valtell, Juan Garcia, Rubio Antonio and Joaquin Puentes, alleged Mexican revolutionists, were taken to Nogales and forced across the border by immigration authorities. A force of Mexican rural guards in waiting arrested them the moment they crossed the line. The men were handcuffed together and taken to the Mexican prison. The prisoners were deported on the finding of authorities at Washington that they were alien immigrants. All six were alleged to be prominent in revolutionary plots to take an armed force into Mexico and start an uprising.

GIRL'S AFFINITY

Found Through Poem and Though He Had Never Seen the Author, He Proposed by Mail.

Princeton, Ind., Oct. 5.—As a result of a poem written by Miss Grace Bernard, of Ohio, she won for herself a husband, and L. Monroe Sprol of this city, found his affinity. Miss Bernard's effort was printed. Mr. Sprol happened across the poem and was struck with it—so much, in fact, that he had the temerity to write and congratulate the author.

This was a year ago. Since that time a correspondence has been kept up. The young man proposed by mail. He was accepted and went to Tiffin, where he was married.

Yesterday the young man surprised his relatives by appearing here with his bride, poem and all. Mr. and Mrs. Sprol had not met until the day before the ceremony. The groom is a writer of considerable ability.

Girl's Confession.

New Philadelphia, O., Oct. 5.—A suicide pact between two girls was revealed by Miss Barbara Heron, 16, of Midvale, who is suffering from a badly burned mouth as the result of drinking carbolic acid. The girl declares a friend from Dennison, whom she calls Myrtle and whose identity can not be learned, went with her to Canal Dover and purchased two small bottles of carbolic acid. Trusting one into her hands, she said, "Drink this." Miss Heron said: "I tried to drink the stuff, not knowing what it was. It burned so horribly that I could not drink it." While admitting the suicide pact, the girl refuses to explain the reason or admit that she knew she was taking acid.

Convict Can Not Get Well.

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—Suffering with tuberculosis which he contracted while counterfeiting Austrian money in a damp cellar in Cleveland, William Mihatakopolos, the convict with the longest name in the penitentiary, was removed to the prison hospital for treatment. Mihatakopolos is serving a five-year term. There is little prospect for his recovery.

TROOP TRAIN CAUSED RUIN

Ran Into Rear of Passenger Train With Terrible Result.

FIVE WERE KILLED OUTRIGHT

Many Injured Among Whom Was an Ohio Man—Engineer of the Special Surrendered to Authorities After the Wreck—Sad Incident of Disaster Was Fatal Ending of Wedding Trip.

Lansingburg, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Immediately following the disastrous wreck here, caused by a special train on the Boston & Maine railroad running into the rear of a regular passenger train, Thomas Holleran, engineer of the special train, who lives in Troy, surrendered himself to the police. He was arraigned but would make no statement about the wreck.

The special was drawing four troops of the Fourteenth United States cavalry from Fort Ethan Allen to Newport News, where they are to embark for Cuba.

The passenger train consisted of five cars, a baggage car, smoker, day coach and two parlor cars. It was an hour late when it reached Lansingburg station, waiting there for a chance to get into the Troy depot.

The special train consisted of seven Pullman coaches and 11 horse cars, the latter being directly behind the wrecked engine. The four troops of cavalry aggregated about 350 men and 400 horses.

The collision took place on a heavy grade and sharp curve. Without apparently any warning, the special came thundering along with 18 cars and crashed into the passenger train, smashing the last two cars, which were Pullmans, like eggshells.

Both these cars were swept from the track and rolled down the embankment. The engine of the special kept on a dozen yards and then turned turtle, the front end plowing into the ground and the car behind being telescoped by the tender.

Among those most seriously injured is W. H. Seymour of Kenton, O. At least a score were seriously injured and five were killed outright.

The dead: F. L. Block of Peoria, Ill.; Mrs. Wallace E. Shaw of Bath, Me.; Mrs. Stevens of Boston; Mrs. J. W. Dacey of Arlington, Mass., and Mrs. H. S. Poole of Concord, N. H.

J. W. Dacey ran up and down the track crying for his wife. In a few minutes her lifeless form was identified. They were married Wednesday night at Arlington, Mass., and were on their wedding trip.

JUMPED BAIL.

Dealer in White Slaves Failed to Appear in Court.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 5.—Alfred Maurey, accused of being one of a gang of men banded together for the purpose of abducting and importing French girls into this country for immoral purposes, forfeited $5,000 bail in the federal court here when he failed to appear for trial. The authorities of northern California, Mexico and Arizona have been notified to look out for the fugitive. Advice from Johannesburg, South Africa, state that Maurey jumped his bond there in a similar manner some time ago while facing like charges. Victoria Jolly, a French girl, the principal witness against Maurey, and who was held in the county jail awaiting his trial, was released.

INCORRIGIBLE

Because His Tonsils are Diseased, Say the Doctors, Who Will Remove Them.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Virgil Johnson, aged 11, will undergo an operation for the removal of his tonsils in an effort to make a better boy of him. The boy was arrested some time ago, but the doctors who examined him believed that practically all his troubles were the result of diseased tonsils. The condition of the tonsils they found, had made him half deaf, had affected his size and had had a very detrimental effect on his nervous system.

The boy was turned over to the authorities to induce doubts of the diagnosis. At Judge Stubbs' direction 18 boys, of whom Johnson was one, were found that the condition of the tonsils was the result of such diseases. One Mr. Jackson, charged with truancy, was found to have extremely poor eyes, and it was believed that he had failed to go to school because of this affliction.

Revolutionizing Cigar Making

THE OLD WAY

Up to a few years ago there had been no important improvement in the methods of curing, blending and ripening tobacco since the days of Sir Walter Raleigh.

Cigar-makers continued to roll cigars in the same old haphazard way from leaf obtained at different times, from different sources, in different grades. Of these grades they made a mixture and called it a "Blend."

Tobacco continued to be cured after the fashion learned from the Indians, the time given to the process of ripening and maturing often depending upon the demand for the leaf or for the finished cigars.

There was not, and could not be, such a thing as standard quality.

The cigar-maker never could be certain that his product would "run even." There might be—and often was—a great difference between two cigars out of the same box—how much more variation between the products of two different seasons!

MARK

Insures Honest Cigar Values

THE NEW WAY

The American Cigar Company has changed all that. After spending several years and many million dollars in experiments and equipment it has perfected processes which have absolutely revolutionized the entire cigar industry.

As a result cigar quality has been improved fully one hundred per cent without a cent of extra cost to the smoker.

Cigars made under the new processes are invariably "mellow," like a well-ripened Havana, and without a trace of bitterness. They smoke evenly, slowly and with fully developed aroma.

All these results are represented in our "A" (Triangle A) trade mark. Wherever you see this mark it stands for a good cigar—the best possible to produce at the price.

We are constantly producing under this trade mark new brands of varying characteristics to suit varying tastes. Make a test of the Tarita at 5 cents—a recent example of "A" (Triangle A) superiority. Most recent of all is

THE CUBAN TROUBLE

FIGURES IN THE FIGHTING BETWEEN INSURGENTS AND GOVERNMENT.

The Rural Guard and Its Commander, Alejandro Rodriguez—General Jose Miguel Gomez—The Dead Negro Leader, Quintin Bandera.

QUINTIN BANDERA ON HIS MULE.

It will be five years next spring since the troops of the United States with drew from Cuba and the island became a republic with a separate government in its own. There were phantasies at the time that the Cuban republic would last only a few months and that internal strife would arise which would speedily result in its being absorbed by the United States. But the present insurrection is the first of any consequence which has occurred since President T. Estrada Palma was installed in office. It is over four years since Quintin Bandera, the insurgent leader recently killed in a skirmish with the forces of the government, first threatened revolution against the young republic. In June, 1902, he appeared before the Cuban congress and demanded that the revolutionary soldiers engaged in the struggle for freedom from Spain be immediately paid the money due them, threatening that in case of failure of payment he would take to the woods and head an army of insurgents.

Like most other Cuban warriors, Bandera claimed the title of "general." He had an interesting and adventurous career. He was of pure African extraction and was once a slave. When the insurrection against Spanish rule broke out in 1868 he joined the Dominican leader, Modeste Diaz, in his successful attack upon the Spaniards at Bayamo. He proved so good a fighter that at the close of the Ten Years' war he had risen to the rank of colonel. He figured in the insurrection of 1895 to 1898, and his name became a terror in the country districts, where all sorts of marauding exploits were attributed to him, but it is said that during most of this time he was encamped in the mountains, surrounded by a retinue of women who waited on him as though he were a veritable Turk and they the women of his harem. He was once degraded from his command by General Maximo Gomez.

The force known as the guardia rural, or rural guards, which was recently increased by President Palma to 4,000 men in order to cope with the insurgent bands, is in command of General Alejandro Rodriguez. He was the first mayor of Havana under the new regime and was one of the first to join General Maximo Gomez when in 1895 the latter began the struggle which ended in American intervention and Cuban freedom. His wife, Senora Lola Rodriguez, became famous through the persecutions and indignities heaped upon her by General Weyler. In January, 1898, she was arrested and placed in a felon's cell, where, with four other Cuban ladies, relatives of prominent Cuban chieftains, she suffered the vilest treatment until, after several months of effort, communication was established with General Fitz-Hugh Lee.

and the four women were released. Senora Rodriguez afterward visited the United States.

The rural guards are a body on the plan of the old Texas rangers, men who shoot straight and ride hard, and their especial duty is to put a quietus on revolutionists.

General Jose Miguel Gomez, who has been arrested for alleged participation in the revolt against the government, was the Liberal party's candidate for the presidency last fall, but withdrew before election, claiming that the party in power was not going to permit of a fair ballot. Several months ago he was reported to be planning an uprising, but at that time declared he was out of politics and affirmed his loyalty to the government.

NOTES OF THE RAILWAYS

Coral For Ballast Used by Road Through Florida Keys.

GREAT ENGINEERING PROJECT

Western Pacific Railroad to Build Tunnels to Enter California—Forty-five Bore to Be Made—Pennsylvania Caboose to Have Whistles—Mexican Wood For Ties—Warning Laborers by Megaphone.

There is a section of the United States where coral is exceedingly popular as ballast for railroads, says the New York Tribune. American railroad builders have used nearly every conceivable material for roadbed, from solid granite to the shifting sands of the great southwestern desert, held together by growing vines. But it remained for the Florida East Coast railway to construct a roadbed out of material which, according to a fashion note, is growing in popularity as jewelry.

The portion of the Florida road upon which it has been found feasible to use coral as ballast is in the extension from Miami to Key West, along the Florida keys. The reason for such use is patent to the student of geology. The keys through which the road runs are composed of it. Coral rock is the only thing obtainable except by long transportation. Many of the islets are a long way from the mainland. But a beautiful and exceedingly substantial roadbed is being constructed out of the coral rock. It is glistening white, like a great band of satin ribbon, on which the little islands, with their luxuriant tropical growth, are strung like a necklace of emerald beads. It is more truly a gem studded bond, uniting Key West to the Florida shore.

The road, which was conceived in the mind of Henry M. Flagler as a part of his plan to join Cuba with the United States by an all rail route, is remarkable in more than one particular. Much of the roadbed is being constructed in water thirty or more feet deep. Forests of trees are being used for piling, and tons upon tons of concrete are being dumped on top to form a substantial highway through the ocean.

When this unique railway is done the traveler will, in places, be speeding along entirely out of sight of land. He will practically go to sea in a railway train. Nothing will greet his eye at times but the wide expanse of blue waters where the Atlantic and the gulf meet. The new line will cost from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to build. It is expected to be completed in three years.

The Western Pacific railroad is perfecting plans to enter California, and when the road is completed it will be one of the greatest railroad engineering feats in modern times, says a San Francisco special dispatch to the Brooklyn Eagle. The engineers in charge have instructions to keep one object in view—the straightest line with the least grade. To accomplish this forty-five tunnels will be bored in eastern California between Oroville and Beckwith pass. Instead of going around mountains the Western Pacific is going through them.

The longest of the tunnels is that at the head of Spring Garden, twelve miles east of Quincy. This is cut under the ridge dividing the north and middle forks of the Feather river. It will be more than 7,000 feet in length when completed. The next longest tunnel on the road will be the one under Beckwith pass. This will be over 4,000 feet in length, and it is being bored at both ends. The third tunnel will probably be the most difficult engineering feat of all, as it will be cut through solid rock for a distance of 1,200 feet. This will be north of Quincy, on Spanish creek.

The Pennsylvania railroad is to equip two freight cabooses on each division of the system with a compressed air whistle, similar to those on passenger trains, as an experiment, and if it works well all freight caboos will be similarly equipped, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The purpose is to make it possible for a flagman to signal his engineer when he has caught up to his train after having been back to give warning while his train was at a standstill. The caboose whistle will also be used for signaling when a stop is desired.

Arrangements have been completed at New Orleans by a company of the City of Mexico to ship 1,000 railroad ties a day to New Orleans for the use of the various railroads which are building there. The ties will all be of the zapote wood, which is harder than mahogany and which is not affected by water, says the New Orleans Picayune. Dr. Lorenzo Syper, who is representing the company, said that the wood had been tried in Mexico for ties, and it had been found that the minimum life of a tie of this wood was fifty years.

With the work that is going on along the tracks of the New York Central road in installing the electric system comes a new development of the use of the megaphone, says the New York Press. Attached to every gang of laborers who are at work on the tracks is a boy who is armed with a fine megaphone, who watches for the approach of a train. As soon as one gets as near the gang of track men as is safe he shouts a warning to them, and they pile out of the way. These boys are always Italians and they seem to enjoy hugely the authority that is invested in them with the wide mouthed speaking trumpet.

MARK TWAIN'S LIFE TALE

Extracts From Humorist's Autobiography He Is Still Writing.

'T'WILL LIVE FOR EONS, HE SAYS

Contains 250,000 Words, and After Being Popular 2,000 Years He Thinks It Will Catch Its Second Wind and Start Afloat—Would Need a State Library. He Claims, If He Lives Long Enough.

Reviewing his long and eventful career, Mark Twain, in an autobiography he is now writing, says it is not in the stormy episodes which have illumined his personal record, but in the countless common experiences which make up the existence of the average human being that he sees his own life reflected. Although Mr. Clemens' present literary effort is a truly serious work, he has injected much of the fun and humor inseparable from his character.

Selectious from the unfinished autobiography, on which Mr. Clemens has been laboring several years and of which he has written 250,000 words, will appear serially in the North American Review. From an advance copy of the Review the New York Herald is enabled to present some extracts from the first installment.

In a mock heroic introduction Mr. Clemens informs the world that he intends this autobiography shall become a model for all future autobiographies, "when it is published, after my death." He also intends that it "shall be read and admired a good many centuries, because of its form and method—a form and method whereby the past and the present are constantly brought face to face, resulting in contrasts—which newly give up the interests all along, like the contact of flint with steel. Moreover, this autobiography of mine does not select from my life its showy episodes, but deals mainly in the common experiences which go to make up the life of the average human being, because these episodes are of a sort which he is familiar with in his own life and in which he sees his own life reflected and set down in print.

"Howells was here yesterday afternoon," continues Mr. Clemens, "and I told him the whole scheme of this autobiography, and its apparently systemless system—only apparently systemless, for it is not really that. It is a deliberate system, and the law of the system is that I shall talk about the matter which for the moment interests me, and cast it aside and talk about something else the moment its interest for me is exhausted. It is a system which follows no charted course and is not going to follow any such course. It is a system which is a complete and purposed jumble—a course which begins nowhere, follows no specified route, and can never reach an end while I am alive, for the reason that if I should talk to the stenographer two hours a day for a hundred years I should still never be able to set down a tenth part of the things which have interested me in my lifetime. I told Howells that this autobiography of mine would live a couple of thousand years, without any effort, and would then take a fresh start and live the rest of the time.

"He said he believed it would and asked me if I meant to make a library of it. I said that that was my design, but that if I should live long enough the set of volumes could not be contained merely in a city; it would require a state, and that there would not be any multimillionaire alive, perhaps, at any time during its existence who would be able to buy a full set, except on the installment plan.

"Howells applauded and was full of praises and endorsement, which was wise in him and judicious. If he had manifested a different spirit I would have thrown him out of the window. I like criticism, but it must be my way."

Discussing genealogy in general and his own in particular, Mark Twain goes on to tell a story about the late William Walter Phelps, whom he met when Phelps was minister at the court of Berlin:

"One evening he had me to dinner to meet Count S., a cabinet minister," he writes. "This nobleman was of long and illustrious descent. Of course I wanted to let out the fact that I had some ancestors, too, but I did not want to pull them out of their graves by the ears, and I never could seem to get the chance to work them in in a way that would look sufficiently casual. I suppose Phelps was in the same difficulty. In fact, he looked distraught now and then—just as a person looks who wants to uncover an ancestor purely by accident and cannot think of a way that will seem accidental enough. But at last, after dinner, he made a try. He took us about his drawing room, showing us the pictures, and finally stopped before a rude and ancient engraving. It was a picture of the court that tried Charles I. There was a pyramid of judges in Puritan stonch hats, and below them were three bearded secretaries seated at a table. Mr. Phelps put his finger upon one of the three and said, with exultant indifference:

"An ancestor of mine!"

"I put my finger on a judge and retorted with scathing languidness:

"Ancestor of mine. But it is a small matter. I have others."

"It was not noble in me to do it. I have always regretted it since. But it landed him."

Well Timed Puns.

A southern clergyman, an inveterate punster, says that while he is well aware that puns belong to the lowest order of wit he is seldom able to resist the temptation to make one when opportunity offers.

On one occasion after preaching an eloquent sermon he was met by two friends, one of whom began to praise his discourse in enthusiastic terms. When he paused for breath the other man said, with a laugh:

"Well, doctor, can you stand as much soft soap as that?"

"Indeed I can if there isn't too much lye in it," returned the minister quickly.

At another time he was present at the marriage reception of a young couple of the name of More. The occasion was somewhat stiff up to the time of the minister's entrance, and he quickly discovered the state of affairs.

"Madam," he said, with his radiant smile, addressing the awkward young bride, "how fortunate you are! There are so few people who can say with truth, 'The More I want the More I have.'"

The laugh which followed put the company at ease.

A REASONABLE PLEA FOR THE STOMACH

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work—Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach? Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Pepsin Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

Chemical Laboratory, Telegraphic address, "Diffindo," London. Telephone No. 11029 Central. 20 Cullum St., Fenchurch St. E. C.

London, 9th Aug., 1905.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose) manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., Temple Chambers, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adapted for the purpose for which they are intended.

(Signed) John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly regenerative of these tablets being strong.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, liable and harmless to man or child enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package or send to us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 64 Temple Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

LICKING.

Mrs. N. R. Brown Sr., is quite ill this week.

Miss Nettie Allen's fever is broken but she is suffering seriously with stomach trouble and it is thought special nurse will have to be procured for her if she does not get better soon.

Mrs. Lew Van Horn returned last week from Bucyrus, where she had been visiting her son Will, who has been quite sick.

The reunion of the 31st regiment O. V. V. I., at Hebron last Thursday was greatly enjoyed by those who were permitted to attend.

The Christian Endeavor meeting held at Hebron Friday and Saturday was highly profitable for Christian workers, especially the young.

John Shaw had to lay by a few days last week, but is able to be at work again.

Dore Manson has rented the Rev. C. N. Harford farm and is sowing wheat on it. B. F. Selber who now lives upon the farm will move to Hebron as soon as his new residence is completed.

William Lawver and C. W. Swygert with the pastor, represented Licking church in the ordaining council called to Johnstown last week. Mr. D. C. Kite, the candidate, was ordained by the vote of a large and unanimous council.

John White is home again from Cleveland. He appears to have received much benefit from the treatment received.

Leo Wagner of Athens county is cutting corn for E. M. Sharer. He comes every year for the corn cutting and husking season.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Licking church will be held next Saturday at 2 p. m.

Miss Gertrude Black went to Columbus Monday with her cousin, Mrs. John Vickers of Jacksonstown.

Miss Louise, daughter of Thomas and Clara Williams is attending the school at Granville.

At the close of the morning service at Licking church next Sunday the Lord's supper will be observed.

There will be services at Lakeside next Tuesday evening.

It's a Fact

a Well proven Fact, that RHEUMATOL

IS THE BEST RHEUMATIC CURE ON THE MARKET.

It is a preparation made from the prescription of an old Michigan physician, a prescription brought to our store more than fifteen years ago, and since the death of that physician, we have taken the liberty of giving the public the benefit of his knowledge of the cure of RHEUMATISM.

MOREOVER, we know so positively, just what the remedy will do, that we offer and will return to you your money in the event that you are not cured, for IT WILL CURE ANY CASE OF RHEUMATISM.

ALEXANDRIA

Work Begins on Star's Gas Well—Pastor's Ordination—Personals and News Items.

Alexandria, Oct. 5.—Rev. C. F. Schneider and Daniel W. Lewis were in Johnstown on Friday attending the ordination of the pastor of the Johnstown Baptist Church, Mr. D. C. Kite. The council, after a thorough examination of the candidate, were greatly pleased with his statements as to his Christian experience and call to the ministry and his views of the Bible doctrine. Dr. Emory W. Hunt of Denison university was made moderator of the council.

Some much needed improvements are being made around the T. & O. C. depot. The platform is being elevated about six inches and the timbers which hold the platform in place are being replaced by stone. Other improvements may be looked for. This settles for a time at least all the talk about the removal of the depot to some point nearer the center of the village.

The King's Daughters held their first regular meeting of the new year at the beautiful country home of Miss Eva Stiles, twenty members answering to the roll call. A short program was rendered after which the hostess served delicious refreshments to her guests. The first social meeting will be held at the Misses Conrad's October 12.

Work was begun on the Star's well on Saturday. Alexandria will soon become known as a great gas field and we may reasonably expect some new industry to seek this town as a location on account of the abundant supply of natural gas. Let those interested in our town keep their eyes and ears open and let us be willing to offer some inducement to bring business to our town.

Abie Burnside purchased a second four year old racer a week or two ago, that is doing great things on the track. He is still very green, but Abie says he can pace a streak. The latest report says that he paced a mile at Newark in 2:18.

Ralph Mount who has been down with typhoid fever is convalescent. He is up around the house again and like all typhoid fever patients wants to eat everything in sight. Gertrude his sister, was also threatened with the fever, but by a hard night it was broken up.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buxton of Knoxville, Iowa, have been visiting with relatives in Alexandria. They made a trip one day with C. B. Buxton and wife to Johnstown. Upon their return they assembled all the Buxtons in front of the old tavern where Frank was born, and there had Sam Chidester take a shot at them with his camera. They are now in Granville for a few days.

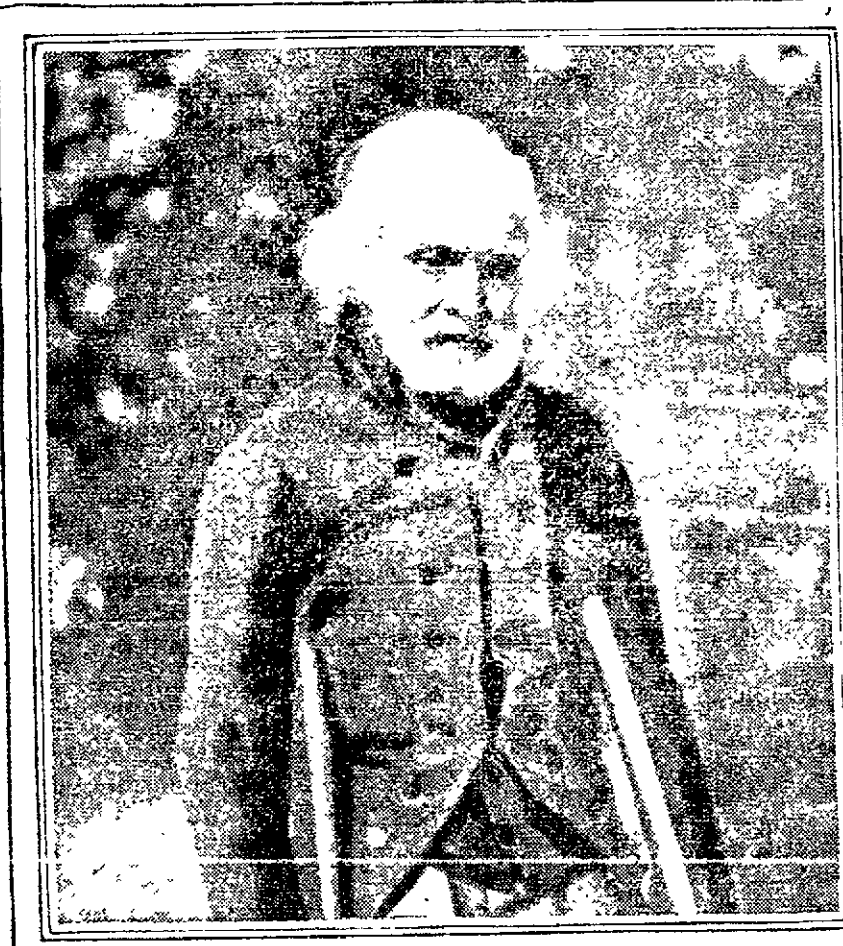

The David Gurney well was drilled in on Friday and they got a good flow of gas. The Colville well is getting better all the time and the men are having quite a time trying to plug it.

Earl Bebout who entered Denison university has had so much trouble from hay fever this fall that he was unable to do any school work. He may be compelled to drop his studies for a time at least.

J. D. Loyd was elected a member of the board of directors of the Alexandria Bank company to fill the vacancy made by the death of L. S. Chadwick.

MARK TWAIN'S "POET LARIAT," IS DEAD

BLOODGOOD CUTTER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Bloodgood, Hayland Cutter died Wednesday in his home, Prospect Hill, L. I., of an aneurysm of the heart. Bloodgood Cutter was a pleasant character. He has been immortalized by Mark Twain as the "Poet Lariat" in the latter's "Innocents Abroad." Cutter accompanied Twain on the journey that resulted in the writing of the book.

Mr. Cutter spent all his life in South Neck, L. I., where he inherited the vein to the writing of verse under the name of the "Poet Lariat." His greatest hobby was the collection of old books and manuscripts. A period of American history, in which his ancestors all participated.

SLAYER OF FOUR WHO KILLS NURSE.

MRS. LIZZIE HALLIDAY.

Portsmouth, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Grief and anger because of the impending departure of an attendant to whom she was devoted, Mrs. Lizzie Halliday, maddened four persons to kill the girl, Nellie Wicks, in the Maternity State Hospital for Insane Criminals last Thursday, as told in an Advocate telegram. Mrs. Halliday has been in the hospital ten years.

Miss Wicks has shown such good and still in the management of forty or fifty women patients that she was promoted to be head attendant of the women's department. Mrs. Halliday, a woman of middle age and somewhat imbecile, showed a great fondness for her from the outset, and the attendant made her one of her most trusted patients.

Recently Miss Wicks announced her intention of leaving the hospital to study to become a trained nurse. Mrs. Halliday took the announcement to heart and begged her not to leave. The young woman laughed and humored her patient but continued her preparations for departing. Several times Mrs. Halliday said she would kill Miss Wicks before she would let her go, but she has made so many threats against different persons since her incarceration that little attention was paid to her. Least of all Miss Wicks feared her.

Miss Wicks entered a washroom at quarter to eight o'clock Thursday morning. She was followed stealthily by Mrs. Halliday, who had in her hand a pair of shears which she was allowed to have to do sewing. Creeping up behind Miss Wicks, the imbecile struck her on the head and felled her. Then taking the nurse's keys she locked the door, leaving the keys in the lock so the door could not be opened from the outside. With the fury of a tigress she returned to her attack, and, using the shears, she stabbed the girl several times over the heart. Miss Wicks' screams brought help and the door was broken down. Mrs. Halliday was confined in a strong room and the wounded nurse was carried to the hospital ward, where she died in two hours.

Baptist church is holding its October meeting this afternoon. The study of Africa was begun and Mrs. Hines has charge of the program. A social hour followed in which to welcome friends old and new.

Mrs. Martha Finley of Sandusky, who has been visiting friends and relatives here for some days, has gone to Columbus, where she will visit a short time before returning home.

Rev. David Dempster of Tiffin, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church next Sunday both morning and evening.

Mrs. Blanche Pettacord and two daughters of Zanesville, are visiting her father, Mr. D. N. Bay. They are on their way to Southern Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Clyde Tuttle and two children of Columbus, are guests of her grandmother, Mrs. R. Granger.

The Granville Bank company now have their safety deposit boxes in place and ready for use. There are still a few to rent from $1 to $5.

Herbert Moore, who has been assistant cashier in the Granville bank, left Sunday for Cleveland, where he has accepted a position.

The Misses Gilligan of Delaware, are visiting friends in Granville.

The Kings Daughters will meet with Miss McConaghey on next Monday evening, October 8.

HIT BY AUTO

John Swattie Was Injured on Church Street Friday Morning But Not Seriously.

"There up, man run over by an automobile and seriously injured at the corner of Church and Fourth street," was called out to an Advocate reporter by a man who was driving east on Church street. The reporter hurried to the scene and found quite a crowd assembled, bending over the form of a man who apparently had been seriously injured, and with Long & McCament's ambulance standing near by. Inquiry developed the fact that the prostrate man was John Swattie, a well known teamster of this city, and that he had been struck by an automobile driven by Mr. John Lamb, Mr. Lamb, who resides in Newark, had just started for Central City, where he is employed in the stove works at that place, and was running his automobile. Just as he was about to turn west on Church street off of Fourth street, he noticed a man in the act of crossing the street. He blew the horn of his machine and says that the man was looking directly at him when he made the turn and expected to see him stop. Mr. Lamb says that instead of stopping the man walked directly against the machine and was struck by the hub of one of the wheels and knocked down. The injured man was taken to the West Main Street Sanatorium where it was found that aside from sustaining a number of severe bruises Swattie had escaped unhurt.

BLOWING BEGINS

New Licking Factory at Utica Will Not Be Ready for Operation For Several Weeks.

Utica, O., Oct. 5.—Blowing was commenced at the Utica Glass Co. factory Sunday midnight, and at the Central Window Glass Co. factory Monday night. The Advance Glass Co. has been running all summer. The new Licking factory will not be ready for several weeks. Glassworkers have been coming by every train, and scores of new faces are seen on the streets. Utica natives are proud of the average of character of her glass and gas people, and these people in return tell outside friends that Utica is as fine a place to live as can be found. With nearly ten miles of cement sidewalks built this summer, Utica looks good to those who have been away. What is needed now is a supply of houses.

Mt. Vernon council granted a franchise to the Galion Southern traction line, Monday night, making one of the conditions the giving of free transportation to the city officials. The county commissioners also granted a franchise Monday from Fredericktown to Mt. Vernon.

John Sparks, who years ago resided at St. Louisville died at the Licking County Infirmary September 12. The cause of his death was stated as a broken hip and old age. Mrs. Felix Harris of Utica is the beneficiary of an insurance policy of $1,000 on his life, which was taken by her husband more than thirty years ago in the purchase of a farm in which Mr. Sparks held a dower interest.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Brinkerhoff have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter Grace, to Mr. Edgar Keer Morrow, which event will take place in the Methodist Episcopal church at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, October 13. This will be the first church wedding in the history of Utica. Admission to the church will be by card, on account of the large number of invited guests. Mr. Morrow has been residing in Delaware, and is prominent in Y. M. C. A. affairs. The home of the couple will be in Portland, Maine.

R. E. Chapman went to Columbus Tuesday, to begin service with Hasbrook, Barger & Co. Mrs. Chapman will continue to reside in Utica, in their beautiful new home.

Rev. and Mrs. Sanderson arrived here from Cedarville, Tuesday. Mrs. Sanderson will remain at the home of R. A. Adams while her husband visits various points in his ministerial capacity.

The Consumers' Company test well on the T. E. Evans farm two miles west of Pataskala came in dry. Morey gave it a 70-quart shot Wednesday with no result. There is no show of oil, and but a trace of gas.

IRON TRADE REVIEW

Steel Trust is to Erect Three or Four New Blast Furnaces in Pittsburgh District.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—The Iron Trade Review says:

That leading interests are of the opinion that present prosperity in iron and steel will continue is evidenced by the announcement of the United States Steel Corporation that it will erect three or four new blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh district, and from 24 to 30 additional open-hearth furnaces in the Pittsburgh and Cleveland districts. This, in connection with the recently announced policy of the corporation to discontinue making long term contracts for billets and to abrogate present contracts as soon as that can be done, indicates the belief that its needs in the near future will consume more crude steel than it is now producing.

The market generally exhibits increased strength. Furnace men are showing no eagerness to place their products far into the future, although the past week has witnessed a distinctive renewal of the 1907 buying movement. No. 2 foundry has sold as high as $28 Valley for prompt delivery, and $17.50 Birmingham for the southern product. A New York concern is inquiring in Chicago for 10,000 tons for delivery during this year and the first quarter of next.

Actual specifications in the hands of the Illinois Steel company aggregate 430,000 tons with unfilled contracts calling for a heavier tonnage than ever before. Activity at the mills is divided among all lines. The scarcity of crude steel is unabated and buyers are being approached with extraordinary inducements to reduce tonnages on contracts.

Heavy orders for cars continue to be placed, thereby strengthening the plate and bar markets especially. The scarcity of cars has grown more pronounced and is seriously interfering with rail, coke and ore shipments. The September ore movement, however, was the heaviest in the history.

New York city boasts the oldest structure on the hemisphere. It is the Egyptian obelisk in Central Park, first erected as an offering to the sun god by Thothmes III. Moses saw it when it was old, for it was constructed more than 1,500 years before the Christian era.
